Rain plays spoilsport at Dasara Exhibition

Water-logged premises keeps away visitors

Mysuru, Oct. 22 (MK,LNY &BCT)- Torrential rains have wreaked havoc in North Karnataka and the entire State has been receiving rainfall since the last two days. The weatherman has predicted more rains in the next three to four days. While the downpour has brought untold misery to the people of North Karnataka, the Mysuru region too is affected.

Though it has not been raining heavily, intermittent rains and cloudy weather have deterred people from venturing out of their homes and head to places like Dasara Exhibition at Doddakere Maidan. Though the initial response for the Exhibition was good, there has been a reduced footfall since the last couple of days, thanks to the rain that promptly lashes city every evening.

Several places at the Exhibition are water-logged and at some places there is slush, preventing free movement of visitors. Rainwater has gathered at Amusement Park, eatery houses and pedestrian walkways.

This year, the Exhibition began late as every year and did not coincide with the Dasara inauguration.

NOTE: All the flights of Alliance Air from Mysuru to Goa, Hyderabad and Chennai are direct flights and operational seven days a week but the flight to Bengaluru operates only five days a week Monday, Wednesday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

- Good response to Kochi, Goa and Hyderabad flights; occupancy rates cross 80 percent
- Five-day flight to Bengaluru sees passenger traffic of only 35 to 40 percent

Mysuru, Oct. 22 (RK&BCT)- This Deepavali, there will be one more flight to Hyderabad in addition to the existing two flights. The Indigo flight will start operating from Oct. 27 (Sunday) and ticket bookings are open. Increased flights under Regional Connectivity Scheme UDAN (Ude Desh Ke Aam Nagarik) launched by the Modi Government has boosted air traffic, inviting more flight operators to choose Mysuru.

UDAN bolsters regional connectivity under "Connecting India," and for Mysuru, it has provided a new lease of life to the Airport at Mandakalli that was once a grazing land for cattle five years ago.

Citizen-friendly cities

The sailor on a ship with sails, which could not move because there was no wind, on seeing only salt water all around said to himself, "Water, water everywhere, nor any drop to drink." The line drawn from the poem The Rime of the Ancient Mariner written in 1798 by the English Poet Samuel Taylor Coleridge (1772-1834) may prompt city-zens living in any city with profile of present day Bengaluru to mutter, "Cars, cars everywhere, nor a space to park." The sailor, after returning to the shore, shared his experience with a guest at a wedding, but our citizen cannot hide his anxiety while looking for a place to park his car which doesn't seem to emerge from the blue as it were. The urban space is getting filled with high-rise structures for both business establishments as well as residential apartments, showy showrooms, malls and large-sized wedding halls with rents madly soaring even as both roads within city limits and highways connecting cities are being widened, in addition to adding more lanes, for which full-grown trees have been, nay are being, chopped mindlessly. Narrow roads and roomy residences in cities and towns of yesteryears have yielded place to broad roads and dwellings in which even rats have round shoulders, to invoke the legendary Hollywood actor Bob Hope (1903-2003) who invited the wrath of hoteliers of a town by his remarks on the small-sized rooms in their town.

The idea of a limit in Mathematics and its formalised definition owes to two Mathematicians Augustin-Louis Cauchy (1789-1857) and Karl Weierstrass (1815-1897), triggering thoughts on idea of a limit and a formalised definition of the limit in respect of a city, from the angle of the space to be citizen-friendly.

Kannada movie of 1970 Boregowda Bengalurige Banda portrays the feelings of a rustic wondering at the city's glitz and glam. Unless one is born in the city and spent years of growing from childhood to adulthood, one is bound to be charmed by all the attractions of city life, before they turn to be trappings which don't need to be elaborated. Roads of many residential areas of Mysuru, which hosted single-storeyed dwellings until not too long ago, people walked to markets, offices, schools and homes of their near and dear ones without fear of being run over by motorised vehicles, are now cluttered with showrooms for cars, jazzy attires, medical shops and restaurants offering foods, including exotic dishes with price tags that don't seem to bother their connoisseurs, most of whom are modern-day millennials.

All said and done, the friendly relationship between the city-zen and the city seems to be cemented by the cash one commands, the age bracket, upbringing, cultivated tastes and so on. When one is cashless, what costs even a rupee sounds costly.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

When I heard that automobile sales in India are down — a 30% year-on-year drop from the same period a year earlier, the worst since December 2000 — I was like, "So that's swell, no? With less people buying cars, that should mean a little less pollution, however little that dip may be." Auto sales are an indicator of the nation's consumption, therefore, the money that people have in hand, and therefore, the state of the economy. So, a slowdown in car sales is an effect of an economy making groaning noises, not the cause of that groaning. The same way smokers buying less cigarettes are an indication of tight wallets, and the reduction being good for national health, even though tobacco companies may be grumbling and hitching the snub in stubs with a bad economy. A similar indication of things being unswell is the slowdown in underwear sales. Indians buying less underwear again is an effect of thrift in the time of economic cholera, not a cause — even though my grandfather did convince me early on that wearing underwear, like using toothpaste, was a 'colonial invention.'

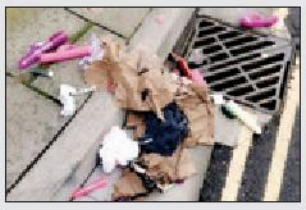
Massive bag of dildos found in Somerset



Michigan: Residents in a town in Somerset have been left shaken after a bag of sex toys was discovered dumped at the side of the road. There was a buzz about the town of Bridgwater as people tried to work out who they belonged to.

There is rampant speculation around the town about the pink and purple dildos that were left next to a drain up the rear passage of a branch of Natwest. Richard Lees took a picture of the abandoned sex toys but nobody has cum forward to admit to owning them.

There were up to 10 vibrators discovered among the haul, varying in size. It is not known if they have been used or still work. On the local newspaper Facebook page, people seemed more bothered about the quality of the paper bag or cardboard box that used to contain the sex toys.

Hikers encounter man jogging in pink thong

London: These days it's often the case that you have to expect the unexpected. But would you ever expect to see a man out for a run on a hiking trail, wearing nothing but a pink thong and a pair of work boots? Well, one group of hikers certainly weren't prepared to witness the strange sight and claim that the bizarre moment left them feeling rather "uncomfortable".

According to reports the group of women were going up and down the Wild Horse Mountain trail in Queensland, Australia when they came across the unknown man. One of the members of the group, Maree Price, said the experience was "off putting". She said: "On his way down, he was wearing a pink G-string and work boots, his clothes in his hand. He ran past saying 'Sorry girls, sorry girls, sorry girls' over and over, and once we had passed him, he started covering his bare butt!"

HEALTH CAPSULE by Bron Smith

What causes me to wake up repeatedly in the middle of the night?

If you wake up to urinate more than 2 or 3 times per night, you may have an over-active bladder or, if you're a man, an enlarged prostate. If you're a light sleeper, try earplugs to shut out unwanted noise. A sleep mask may also be helpful.

LAUGHTER THE BEST MEDICINE

The new bus boy was just 16 and because it was his first job, we were all impressed with how well he had done on his first day. Which is why we were surprised the next day when he didn't show up for his shift. Then, an hour late, he came running in, red-faced and breathless. "I'm sorry, I'm sorry," he said: "I FORGOT I HAD A JOB !"

Viable policy needed to maintain Old Conservancy Lanes

Sir,

Our Old Extensions like Vontikoppal (VV Mohalla) have well-planned and designed Conservancy Lanes system all across the Cross Roads and Main Roads since the days of establishing them from around 1920s. They were managed well all along since then but now they need special attention.

These conservancies have become unclean and unhealthy spots in different places as garbage dumping zones, storing of unwanted household materials, unauthorised temporary and permanent structures.

They are also used as extended home utilities too, like embedded UGD, overhead electric wiring, telecom cables, private and public encroachments, wild growth of all kinds of shrubs, creepers, trees and many more.

On behalf of the residents, I request the authorities concerned to evolve a functionally viable citizen-friendly policy for an ongoing maintenance and upkeeping of Mysuru City, once known as the "Cleanest and Healthy City" free from causing and spreading epidemics and diseases in future too.

It may be noted that coordinated attention by Mysuru City Corporation, MUDA, PWD, CESC, Telecom and other Public/ Private Organisations is of paramount importance.

Pathetic stretch from Water Tank to Ring Road

Sir,

The Road from Vijayanagar Water Tank to Abhishek Circle and beyond is dug up till the Ring Road. It is in a pathetic condition for over three months.

On one side road is dug up and on other side lot of mud is heaped haphazardly.

When the roads in Gokulam and at other places are neatly laid, don't people living in this area deserve basic amenities like others?

Will the authorities concerned and the area Corporator look into this civic need at the earliest?

HDFC website relaunched in six Indian languages

Mumbai, Oct. 22- Housing finance major HDFC Limited has localised its website in six Indian languages. In addition to English, to help home-buyers get home loan related information more effectively, website content is now also available in Hindi, Marathi, Tamil, Telugu, Malayalam and Kannada.

HDFC Ltd. is the only corporate in the financial sector to offer content on its website in six Indian languages, it added.

The growing use of internet, smartphones and rising base of regional language users, particularly in smaller towns, has made it important to focus on building digital properties and content where relevant information is available in local language as well, it said.

Workshop on Internet of Things held

Students sensitised on understanding 'wealth triangle' of Ideation, Technology & Commerce

Internet of Things (IoT) workshop in progress.

Mysuru, Oct. 22- MICA PU College, Mysuru, had organised a workshop on Internet of Things (IoT) for its students recently.

The workshop was conducted by S.P. Shreevari, S. Srikeerthi, G. Sourabha, Chandan B. Gowda and S. Kunal, student volunteers at the Open Source Community of Vidyavardhaka College of Engineering.

In her welcome address, the mentor for MICA PU, M.N. Ponnamma expressed her hope of IoT playing a major role in health in general in the areas such as analysis, forecast and pre-diagnosis, withstanding one's privacy being invaded with extensive application of IoT.

The workshop focused on how things get smart when technology progresses and humans need to keep up with digital smartness.

The mobile phone is one of the smartest developments of the world into which everything is integrated and the goal is to disintegrate it and make all devices and equipment just as smart as the smart phone.

The workshop also shed light on the development of 5G network which makes things easier and faster using smartphones itself as network generators. Though the students were enlightened about the benefits of 5G they were also made aware of the various drawbacks it comes with, making the session more informative.

Shreevari also mentioned his concern over scientific bent of mind not having a commercial perspective and stressed on understanding of the 'wealth triangle' of Ideation, Technology and Commerce which can put innovation in motion.

In the workshop, the participants built working models of light sensors, sound sensors, humidity sensor and bar graph plotter using the IoT techniques.

The workshop sowed the seeds of importance of technology in the students' minds to initiate them into the working of technology, according to a press release from the College Principal.

Siddu's remark on BJP, Savarkar lowers his dignity: Kautilya Raghu

Mysuru, Oct.22- Lashing out at former Chief Minister Siddharamaiah for his careless remarks unbecoming of his position as Opposition Leader, senior BJP leader and former KEA Chairman Kautilya Raghu has said that the BJP need not learn any lessons from the Congress, which is well-versed in vote-bank politics.

In a press release, Raghu took strong objection to the remarks made by Siddharamaiah and KPCC President Dinesh Gundurao against the BJP and RSS at a Congress programme held in the city a couple of days ago.

Maintaining that the remarks of the two leaders show their immaturity and frustration, he said the proposal to reward freedom fighter Veer Savarkar with 'Bharat Ratna', posthumously was most welcome.

Asking the Congress leaders to read History before making unscrupulous remarks against Savarkar, the BJP leader said that Congress leaders must issue statements only after getting the facts right.

Siddharamaiah

Kautilya Raghu

Noting that Siddharamaiah must remember that he is a former CM, Raghu said now that he is the Leader of the Opposition, Siddharamaiah should understand the dignity of his office and issue responsible statements.

Maintaining that Siddu lost power because of his arrogance and wayward remarks, he said that Siddharamaiah must be credited for the poor state of Congress party in Karnataka.

Stating that making cheap remarks against true patriots and Prime Minister Modi only goes to show the intellectual bankruptcy of the Opposition Leader, he said that Siddu must learn to make decent remarks at least now.

Hitting out at KPCC President Dinesh Gundurao for making cheap comments against the BJP, freedom fighters and patriots, he said the Congress Party in the State has now turned out to be Siddharamaiah Congress, as all original Congress leaders are either sidelined or neglected.

Wondering about the fate of Congress, which has a long history of over 125 years, Raghu said that the BJP need not learn any lessons from a party which is slowly going into oblivion.

Contending that the Congress leaders must focus on the survival of their own party while choosing not to speak ill of others, he said that the Congress has no moral standing to criticise the BJP at the Centre and in State.

Claiming that Modi's leadership is widely acclaimed throughout the world, he said that as per a recent survey, Karnataka stands first in the country for innovative ways, which is a big honour. But the Congress leaders unmindful of this, have turned hypocrites, lavishing praise on their leader Sonia Gandhi shamelessly. He urged the Congress leaders to refrain from displaying sycophancy and to stop making cheap remarks against BJP leaders, the release said.

Former Mayor Prakash opposes toll collection on Nanjangud Road

Mysuru, Oct.22 (MTY&DM)- Former Mysuru Mayor B.K. Prakash has strongly opposed toll collection on Mysuru-Nanjangud Road (NH 766).

Addressing a press meet here yesterday, Prakash maintained that the Government's move to collect toll from vehicles on Mysuru-Nanjangud Road and Mysuru-T.Narasipur Road, which provide a crucial link to the city, was not right.

Condemning the plan of the authorities to collect toll from vehicles on the ever-busy Mysuru-Nanjangud Road in the first stage, the former Mayor claimed that plans were also afoot to collect toll on Gundlupet and T. Narasipur Roads in a later stage.

Contending that the toll collection move was a burden on the middle class and the poor, he said that the Mysuru-Nanjangud Road was converted into a Highway after much struggle and it was important that the road be widened and developed further to meet the growing vehicular movement.

Former Mayor B.K. Prakash addressing a press meet in city yesterday as City Congress President R. Murthy, former Deputy Mayor Pushpavalli and leader Eshwar Chakkadi look on.

Pointing out that common man is already burdened with increasing road tax, vehicle insurance premiums and other taxes, Prakash said the decision to collect toll was an unscientific one which needed a review. Noting that good roads hold key for the development of a State, he urged the Government to drop the move on toll collection and thus save the vehicle owners from more financial burden.

Echo of blast in Hubballi Railway Station

High Alert in Mysuru, Mandya

Sniffer dog pressed into service at Mysuru City Railway Station this morning following a bomb blast at Hubballi Railway Station yesterday.

Mysuru, Oct. 22 (VNS)- High alert has been sounded in Mysuru and Mandya following a low intensity blast reported at Hubballi Railway Station yesterday. Security has been beefed up at Railway Stations, Bus Stands and other public places to keep a vigil on suspicious movements and avoid possible untoward incidents.

In Mysuru, Police were seen keeping a close watch on public movements at City Railway Station, City Bus Stand, Sub Urban Bus Stand, Devaraja Urs Road, Sayyaji Rao Road and other prominent locations. Dog squads, bomb detection and disposal squads are being used for screening of parcels at Bus Stands and Railway Station. Check posts have also been setup at various entry points where the police are keeping a watch on vehicles entering and exiting the city.

One injured in the blast

Meanwhile, one person was injured as an unclaimed parcel exploded at Hubballi Railway Station, the headquarters of South Western Railway, yesterday. The injured has been identified as Hussain Saab, 22, who is said to be an employee of a restaurant operating in the Railway Station.

Sources said that an unclaimed parcel, found in one of the empty compartments of Vijayawada-Hubballi Amaravati Express, was picked up by Hussain Saab. Later, he arrived at Platform No. 1 to handover the bucket shaped parcel to Railway Protection Force (RPF) personnel. Following instructions from RPF personnel, Hussain opened the parcel when it exploded at about 11.45 am.

He suffered minor injuries on his hand and was soon rushed to Karnataka Institute of Medical Sciences (KIMS) where he is undergoing treatment. The blast also caused wreckage at the Station Master's office as the window glass panes were shattered.

On receiving information, Hubballi Police, Railway Police and other officials rushed to Railway Station and cordoned off the platform before carrying out an extensive checking. Sources also said that the parcel had a written message that read 'Prakash Abhitkar, Budargadh taluk, Kolhapur district, MLA, Gargoti, MS State, 'No BJP, No RSS' which has led to a suspicion that the blast might be linked to the Maharashtra Assembly Polls that was held yesterday. Sources also said that the bucket shaped parcel had eight boxes with two explosives each and was shifted to a safer place to be defused later.

Role of Bangladeshi immigrants suspected

Meanwhile, Minister for Medium and Large Industries Jagadish Shettar suspected the involvement of Bangladeshi immigrants and added that a high level investigation would be carried out to identify the culprits.

It may be recalled that Home Minister Basavaraj Bommai, during his recent visit to Mysuru, had mentioned about the presence of sleeper cells belonging to Jamat-ul-Mujahideen Bangladesh (JMB) in Bengaluru, Mysuru and coastal districts.

Bomb Detection and Disposal Squad personnel are seen shifting the bucket with explosives to a safer place at Hubballi Railway Station yesterday.

INX Media Case

SC grants bail to P. Chidambaram

The bail order does not have any immediate effect since he is now in ED custody

Chidambaram

New Delhi, Oct.22- The Supreme Court today granted bail to former Union Finance Minister P. Chidambaram in the INX Media corruption case.

A three-member Apex Court Bench led Justice R. Banumathi passed orders to this effect.

Chidambaram will have to surrender his passport and submit himself for investigations when required. The former Union Minister will also have to submit personal bail bonds of Rs. One lakh and two sureties of the same amount. He cannot leave the country without permission of the Trial Court.

The bail order does not have any immediate effect since Chidambaram is now under Enforcement Directorate's custody in a related money-laundering case. He will need bail in that case too to be a free man.

Chidambaram has been charged with bribery and corruption in the INX Media case for clearing a foreign investment deal for the company in 2007 allegedly on a quid pro quo for shell companies associated with his son Karti Chidambaram, who is also on bail in this case.

141 prisoners, including 23 in Mysuru Jail released for good conduct

Bengaluru, Oct.22 (KMS&DM)- A total of 141 prisoners in the State, including 23 in Mysuru Central Jail were released yesterday for good conduct, after the Governor approved their release.

The released prisoners were serving life terms at different prisons in the State. Home Minister Basavaraj Bommai who attended a programme at Parappana Agrahara Jail in Bengaluru yesterday distributed kits to the prisoners who walked free. Out of the 141 prisoners, 71 had been lodged in Parappana Agrahara Jail, 23 in Mysuru Central Jail, 11 each in Ballari and Dharwad Jails, 6 in Vijayapura Jail, 5 in Belagavi Jail and the rest 14 in other Jails.

Prisons Department, in association with Bengaluru's Mindtree Foundation and Radio City FM 91.1, is establishing a FM Station at Parappana Agrahara Jail, while San City Solutions is organising various skill training programmes for Jail inmates.

K.R. Pet ASI in ACB net

K.R. Pet, Oct. 22- An Assistant Sub-Inspector (ASI) attached to K.R. Pet Rural Police Station was trapped by the Anti-Corruption Bureau (ACB) while allegedly accepting bribe from a farmer who had sought Police protection for taking possession of his farmland yesterday.

ASI Eeregowda had demanded a bribe of Rs. 25,000 from farmer Umesh Gowda of Hemmanahalli in Sheelanere Hobli of the taluk for providing protection.

Umesh, who finally agreed to pay the money after a hard bargain, lodged a complaint with the ACB. Eeregowda was trapped by the ACB sleuths while he was accepting Rs. 22,000 as bribe yesterday evening.

ASI Eeregowda

The trapped ASI was produced before the Court which remanded him to judicial custody.

The trapping operation was carried out by ACB Dy.SP Manjunath and team under the guidance of ACB SP J.K. Rashmi.

Point of VIEW

T.J.S. George

I have a personal link with the British royal family, in particular Queen Elizabeth. I was pleased, therefore, to see splendid photographs of her on British Parliament's opening day last week. How magnificent she looked in the grand setting of a ceremonially decked up Parliament. She looked resplendent, the jewel-encrusted imperial crown scoring elegant points over the golden throne on which she sat, shimmering necklaces adding layers of glamour to her aura. Elizabeth is a phenomenon.

Which is extraordinary because the British royalty is full of oddballs. King John, 13th century, got his nephew murdered to stop him from claiming the throne. Henry VIII, 16th century, is known as the worst monarch in history, a tyrant and wife-murderer. Queen "Bloody" Mary, 16th century, got hundreds of citizens burned at the stakes because they were Protestants who declined to become Catholics. (Our kind of Communalism at least pits one religion against another. Christians went mad and killed other Christians. No wonder the West is called Wild West.) As irony would have it, Bloody Mary was succeeded by Elizabeth I, daughter of murdered wife of Henry VIII. Under her England saw its Golden Age, with the likes of Shakespeare shining on the stage.

Compared to all that, Elizabeth II, the present Queen, presides over a peaceful realm which may have no Shakespeares but which has no executions either. Her family is relatively free of notoriety, too, though husband Philip is something of an oddball. He is well-known for saying the wrong things at the wrong time. Seeing something disorderly in a factory once, he said it looked "as though it was put in by an Indian." The only proper thing he ever said was that "constitutionally, I do not exist." Otherwise, too, he hardly does.

With a husband like Philip, it was a surprise that only one of Elizabeth's four children turned out to be an oddball. Daughter Anne, in love with horses from childhood, developed into an olympics-standard equestrian and remains busy with a few hundred charities. Two younger sons, Andrew and Edward, have also kept the flag flying despite some controversies Andrew attracted early in his career.

It is Elizabeth's first-born and heir to the throne, Charles, who turned out to be the black sheep. He was popular to begin with, then his private life dragged him into the nether realms of ignominy. He fell for a woman older than him, Camilla, whose scruples were as adjustable as his. Even as they were having an affair, both went with cheat marriages, Camilla with a guy called Bowles and Charles with Diana, a stand-out beauty. Both went on double-crossing their duly wedded partners, even after Diana gave birth to two bright boys. People all over the world loved her and the more they loved her, the more they hated Charles. When Diana was killed in a road accident, public sympathy for her rose as high as public aversion for Charles. People wondered whether he had some badly edited genes from some of the nefarious ancestors mentioned above. May be Camilla's witchery was extra potent.

The smartest thing Queen Elizabeth did in her life was to live on into her nineties and thereby keep Charles away from the throne for a generation. What will happen tomorrow, we don't know. Whether he will have the sense to understand public disapproval of him and pass the crown to his son is uncertain. What is sure is that people would resent it if ever they have to call his woman "Queen Camilla."

Oh, but how did I get mixed up with Camilla when I was into my links with Queen Elizabeth? That's a more pleasant topic. Well, it is simple. I had the pleasure of attending her coronation in 1953. No, I was not an official invitee. No, I didn't have a seat in the Westminster Abbey where the crown was placed on her head. Nor was I part of the press contingent covering the event. To be frank, I did not even participate in the festivities inside Buckingham Palace.

Trade Union politics in Bombay had created a temporary 'kitchen supervisor' post in cargo ships; I became kitchen supervisor on a Scindia ship that went to Bremen, Antwerp, Hamburg, Liverpool and, yes, London. The ship berthed in London just the day before the coronation. So I was there, amidst the milling crowd, waving at the young Queen. I know she noticed me in the crowd and waved at me. Ever since I have felt a personal link with her. Reign on, Elizabeth.

Skill development training on post-harvest technologies for fruits and vegetables

CFTRI to conduct course next month

Mysuru, Oct. 22- CSIR-Central Food Technological Research Institute (CFTRI) is conducting a four-week NSQF (National Skills Qualifications Framework) aligned skill development programme on Post-Harvest Technologies for Fruits and Vegetables from Nov. 4 to Nov.29. The course will be conducted at the CSIR-CFTRI campus as per the requirements of National Skill Development Corporation (NSDC) guidelines.

The course offers hands-on-training in the processing, production and quality aspects of different fruit and vegetable products. It consists of two modules, the first module is focused on the modern post-harvest operations of the fresh fruits and vegetables to reduce the losses during handling, transportation and increase the shelf life. The second module is focused on the processing of fruits and vegetables into pulps, juices, beverages, canned products, dehydrated products, pickles, jams etc.

Upon the successful completion of the programme, candidates will be awarded NSDC certificates in Qualification pack: Supervisor - Fruits & Vegetables Processing (FIC/Q0109; NSQF level 5).

CFTRI highlights that the course would provide a number of job opportunities for persons intending a career in the fruit and vegetable industry, horticulture, students, entrepreneurs, self-help groups, FPOs, CFCs, quality control managers, lab technicians/assistants and entrepreneurs in fruits and vegetables processing.

The course is open to graduates in Science. However, candidates with 10+2 & 2-3 years' experience in food industry are also eligible. Interested can register online at: http://www.cftri.com/sdp or contact Dr. P. Vijayanand, Chief Scientist and Head, Department of Fruit and Vegetable Technology, for course fee and other details or email: fvt@cftri.res.in or call Mob: 9448750674. Last date for registration is Oct. 31.

Swachatha Abhiyan

Mysuru, Oct. 22 - CFTRI Layout Resident's Welfare Association joined Mysuru City Corporation to successfully organise a cleaning drive in the locality on Sunday last. The residents came out in support of the drive, led by the Welfare Association's Executive Committee and President, Y.N. Vijayashankar.

Nirmala Harish, the local Corporator (Ward 43), also participated in the event.

Mysuru has constantly ranked high on the list of cleanest cities in India, even winning the title in 2015 and 2016 and inspiring many to take up voluntary cleanliness initiatives and support the MCC. The residents of the area have said that they would like to organise more such events in future to contribute to the beautification and cleanliness of the city and get back the Cleanest City tag for the third time.

Sumalatha's AC train travel sets tongues wagging

Mandya MP defends action saying negative people must change their attitude

Mandya, Oct.22 (Nagaiah& BCT)- The usually peaceful Mandya Railway Station was a hub of activity last evening as Mandya MP Sumalatha paid a visit to the Station and took a train to Bengaluru. Draped in a fenugreek yellow saree with red border, Sumalatha arrived at the Station at around 4 pm and she interacted with passengers and Policemen, hearing their grievances.

Usually Sumalatha travels in a luxury car from Mandya to Bengaluru and yesterday, she chose the Tanjavoor-Mayiladuturai Express that left Mandya at about 5 pm to reach Krantivira Sangolli Rayanna Station at the State Capital. Sumalatha was accompanied by producer-actor Rockline Venkatesh and local leader Induvalu Sachidananda.

It was Sumalatha's surprise visit and as she arrived at the Station entry gate in her car, Railway officials, though taken by surprise, welcomed her and led her to the platform. They explained various passenger-friendly initiatives taken at the Station. She also interacted with women passengers and Home Guards posted at the Station. Her attention was particularly drawn towards the facilities available for women.

The actor-turned politician sat on a stone bench at the Station and interacted with passengers and Railway officials. Speaking to reporters, Sumalatha said that she has already requested Union Minister of State for Railways Suresh Angadi to improve the facilities between Bengaluru and Mysuru and add additional compartments for women passengers in all trains during peak hours. Her supporters said that the train travel helps her effectively place demands before Railways.

Later, she boarded the train and sat in an AC compartment to travel to Bengaluru. However, this was not received well as the social media was flooded with comments criticising the MP for taking the AC compartment.

B.T. Mohan Kumar of Nagamangala posted the photo of the MP, seated in the air-conditioned coach on his Facebook Wall, posing a question: "Can you listen to the woes of the common passengers, if you travel in an AC coach?" Several netizens commented that the MP should stand in a queue and buy tickets and must use the wash basin and washroom like common people to understand the plight of daily travellers.

Along with such comments, she also received support as many netizens saying that there is nothing wrong in Sumalatha taking a train. One Nandi Gowda has defended the train travel by Sumalatha and commented: "Others travel by Range Rover and not by train." His reference was apparently directed towards former CM H.D. Kumaraswamy who always travels on his luxury SUV. For the record, Sumalatha trounced Kumaraswamy's son Nikhil Kumaraswamy in Mandya in the last Parliamentary election.

Reacting to the comments, Sumalatha tweeted this morning and said, "For those who have nothing but negative comments in anything and every good thing too...I have nothing to say other than try to change your attitude... you can then bring a change into society too maybe Have a Good Day my friends."

"It's not just the train but the station and platform facilities plus the problems faced by public as I was interacting with lots of commuters, also the intention was to encourage people to take the train," she tweeted.

Rain plays spoilsport

Though empty stalls greeted visitors initially, footfalls picked up and peaked on Ayudha Puja and Vijayadashami where more than 30,000 visitors thronging the private and Government stalls. Since it was a long weekend, footfall remained constant for a couple of days. But the number of visitors dwindled after the Vijayadashami procession.

Speaking to Star of Mysore, Lokesh, who has bagged the contract to collect tickets at Exhibition Gate, said that initially, the response was very good but the numbers reduced. "We get maximum visitors in the evening and the daily rain has turned away visitors. Last Saturday, we recorded a footfall of 25,000 to 30,000 and on Sunday, the number came down to 13,000. Yesterday, there were only 1,400 visitors," he revealed.

Delhi Masala Papad outlet owner Aslam Khan too said that his stall has received fewer footfalls this year when compared to the numbers last year. "Last year, we did good business by this time. This time, we have 38 workers and we have paid a hefty stall fees. It is difficult to manage the inventory costs if it rains continuously like this," he added.

Khan added that last Saturday and Sunday he sold items worth Rs.40,000 to Rs.45,000. "People flocked to eat hot Delhi Masala Papad and spicy chilly bajji. "We hope that the business will pick up if the rain stops," he said.

Similar sentiments were echoed by Yathiraj who has kept a steel vessel and kitchen items outlet and Saravana who has also kept a household item stall. "We have been participating in the exhibition since the last three years and this October, the footfall is less. People are not ready to come to the expo due to rain. We sell good quality items at cheaper rates when compared to the markets outside. Still people are not ready to come here," they said.

On the next step, Lokesh said that he will raise the issue at the Exhibition Committee meeting. "We will seek an extension if at all we feel that the business will be affected by rain. Usually, the exhibition ends in December. Last year we had got an extension and if rain continues this year, we will seek an extension," he said.

Rain devastates K.R. Pet

Vehicles line up on Mysuru-K.R. Pet Road as bridge submerges; One killed

K.R. Pet, Oct.22 (Nagaiah& US)- The incessant rain for the last two days in K.R. Pet taluk has inundated many areas.

In Ganjigere village, one Kumar (34), hailing from Murukanahalli who was staying in his grandmother's house, was killed last night when the house crumbled in the rain.

The villagers helped to get the body retrieved. K.R. Pet Rural Police have registered a case. Revenue officials visited the spot.

Lakes in Rayasamudra, Haralahalli, Sindughatta, Nitimangala and Vasantapura have breached flooding agricultural lands and spoiling pumpsets and the drip irrigation project.

Murukanahalli bridge is submerged with Mysuru-K.R. Pet State Highway blocked till noon today resulting in vehicles lining up for several kilometres.

Sri Siddalingeshwara Gadduge at Kapanahalli Gavi Mutt, said to be the family deity of CM B.S. Yediyurappa, is submerged. Hundreds of electric poles have been uprooted plunging the town to darkness. Collapsed houses have made a few families homeless.

Tahsildar M. Shivamurthy and ZP Agriculture and Industry Standing Committee Chairman H.T. Manju inspected the affected areas.

Manju has sought suitable compensation for farmers who have lost crops and asked for immediate repair of damaged bridges.

Banking services partially hit as employees protest against merger

Mysuru, Oct.22 (R&DM)- Banking services was partially hit in city this morning as employees of some Public Sector Banks and as well as a few Private Sector Banks went on a protest following an All India Bank strike called by some Bank Unions.

Over 500 employees of Public Sector Banks — Canara Bank, Corporation Bank, Syndicate Bank and Dena Bank, supported by staff of Private Sector Banks such as Karnataka Bank, Kotak Mahindra, Catholic Syrian and Federal Banks, under the banner of All India Bank Employees' Association and the Bank Employees Federation of India, gathered at the Corporation Bank's Regional Office on Vinoba Road and staged a demonstration against the merger of Banks, which they claimed was detrimental to the Banking industry.

Raising slogans against the Union Government, the employees urged the Government to stop reforms, step up recovery of bad loans and to take stringent action against defaulters.

They also demanded that customers must not be 'harassed' with penal charges and that service charges must not be hiked. This apart, they also sought a hike in interest rate on deposits.

However services in other Public Sector Banks such as SBI and Vijaya Bank remained unaffected as the employees did not join the strike.

Mysuru District Bank Employees Association Secretary H. Balakrishna, other Office-bearers Subbanna, Padmanabha Nayaka, Putturam, Chandrika, Ragini and others took part.

India beat South Africa by innings and 202 runs, complete historic whitewash

Ranchi, Oct. 22 (UNI)- India defeated South Africa by innings and 202 runs in the third and final Test match to register their historic maiden 3-0 clean sweep over South Africa, here at the Jharkhand State Cricket Association Stadium, this morning.

Resuming at the overnight score of 132/8, South Africa's innings lasted just 11 minutes as India bundled the tourists out for 133. Debutant Shahbaz Nadeem picked up the final two wickets in consecutive balls as India sealed a historic victory.

Earlier, South Africa were all out for 162 in the first innings after India declared at 497 for 9 in their first innings. Mohammed Shami took three for 10 while Umesh Yadav and Nadeem finished with two wickets each.

This was also India's biggest margin of victory in terms of innings against South Africa in tests. With this victory, India have now won their last five tests along with consolidating their position at the top of the World Test Championship points table with a maximum of 240 points. South Africa, on the other hand, failed to open their World Test Championship account after their first three tests.

Meanwhile, Kohli surpassed Mohammed Azharuddin to become the India captain to lead the team to most number of series whitewashes in Tests (minimum 3 matches). Azharuddin led India to two series whitewashes under his leadership but Kohli bettered his record with a complete rout of South Africa in the Freedom series.

Before this, Virat Kohli's men had whitewashed New Zealand (3-0) in a home series in 2016 and Sri Lanka (3-0) in an away series in 2017. India had whitewashed England (3-0) in 1993 and Sri Lanka (3-0) in 1994, with Azharuddin at the helm in two home series. Under M.S. Dhoni, India managed to whitewash only one opponent that was Australia (4-0) in a home series in 2013.

Group clash over trivial issue at B. M. Shri Nagar

Mysuru, Oct.22 (RK&DM)- Tension prevailed at B.M.Shri Nagar in Metagalli Police Station limits late on Sunday night as two groups of youths clashed over a trivial issue.

Trouble started when four foreign students travelling on two bikes went on a honking spree when a group of local youths strongly objected to it. Even as the local youths were taking on the foreign students on the issue, another group of local youths came in support of the foreign students when an altercation took place, leading to tension in the area.

Upon getting information about the incident, Metagalli Police Inspector Raghavendra Gowda and staff rushed to the spot and brought the warring youths to the Police Station and questioned them.

However no Police complaint has been filed so far, according to Police sources.

Meanwhile the situation in the area retuned to normalcy, with Police guarding the area, sources said.

One more flight from Mysuru

At present, the Airport handles flights to Kochi, Goa, two flights to Hyderabad and Bengaluru. These flights are operated by Alliance Air, a wholly-owned subsidiary of Air India. This apart, TruJet operates flights to Chennai twice a day. (See table). The flights to Goa, Hyderabad, Kochi and Chennai is operational seven days a week but the flight service to Bengaluru is only five days a week – Monday, Wednesday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Now, one more flight has been added to Hyderabad. It will arrive at the Mysore Airport at 7.40 pm and will depart Mysuru at 8.10 pm. This will be a direct flight to Hyderabad, said Mysore Airport Director Manjunath. The flight is expected to make a landing in Hyderabad at 9.55 pm.

Speaking to Star of Mysore this morning, Manjunath said that the inaugural flight on the new route will be on Oct. 27 and Indigo Airlines officials have visited Mysore Airport and have inspected passenger facilities and the Air Traffic Control facilities. The Indigo flight will be a 72-seater ATR aircraft.

One more flight operator TruJet has also evinced keen interest in operating daily flights to Belagavi from Mysuru. However, modalities, timings and the route are yet to be finalised, Manjunath added. "The response is positive but we will have to finalise the finer details," he added.

TruJet already has a slot for a flight from Chennai to Mysuru. The same flight will connect Mysuru with Belagavi, giving the people of Mysuru and surrounding areas an easy and a convenient air link to the North Karnataka region.

High occupancy rate

Manjunath said that the occupancy rate of the flights of both incoming and outgoing is going up every day and is touching as much as 75 percent to 85 percent, triggering a new interest among airlines keen to operate from Mysuru. The reason for people choosing to fly to Hyderabad, Chennai, Goa or Kochi is because many will catch connecting flights to other destinations that do not have direct access from Mysuru.

"The demand for flights from Mysuru started once Mysuru-Kodagu MP Pratap Simha took keen interest and saw to it that under the UDAN scheme the flights were introduced and this saw a healthy rise in the occupancy rate," he said.

However, the only region where there is not much occupancy is the Mysuru-Bengaluru flight which has seen an occupancy rate of just 35 to 40 percent," he added. "This is because, travellers prefer car, bus and train to reach Bengaluru considering the travel time from Mysuru to Mysore Airport and then from Bengaluru Airport to Bengaluru city," he said.

Enriching, enthralling and entertaining evening

Articulate Trust for Arts, whose mission is to collaborate with classical dance artistes to create platforms to share and enjoy classical dances of India, in its 42nd edition conducted the Articulate (Mysuru) Festival on Oct.20 at Veene Seshanna Bhavana in Kuvempunagar, Mysuru.

Curator of the festival, Mysore B. Nagaraj said that the Trust has dedicated itself to conduct the festivals now twice a month, every 1st Sunday in Bharatiya Vidya Bhavan (BVB), Mysuru and every 3rd Sunday at Veene Seshanna Bhavana, Mysuru, to facilitate the numerous artistes who have expressed their interest to share their artistry. This evening witnessed three Bharatanatyam and one Odissi performance.

M.S. Vidyalakshmi, disciple of Vid. P. Praveen Kumar of Chithkala School of Dance, Bengaluru, commenced her Bharatanatyam recital with a Chittaranjani raga based and in Adi tala Sri Thyagaraja's kriti on Shiva 'Nada Tanumanisham Shankaram.' Before concluding with the signature item Tillana in raga Sumanasranjini, Adi tala composition of Sri Shatavadhani R. Ganesh, she presented a Purandara Dasa's Devaranama 'Kadagola Tarenna Chinnave' in Raga Yaman set to adi tala.

To suit the modern sensibility of audience and yet keeping herself within the frame work of the tradition, she introduced a subtleness, in otherwise a highly stiffened geometrical movements in the nrutta and subtlelity in expression, in otherwise a total natyadharmi form of abhinaya. The restrain she exercised, so elegantly, was easy on the prekshakas eyes.

Sneha Venkataramani Krishna, Bharatanatyam artiste, disciple of Padma Bhushan Dr. Saroja Vaidyanathan, opened her performance with a Sindhu Bhairavi-Taal: Adi Tamil composition by Gopalakrishna Bharathi, 'Tha Thai endraduvaar' and continued with an abhinaya number in raga: Ragamalika, Taal: Adi Telugu composition by Kshetrayya, 'Nanne Penlaaduchumi Na Yaana Muvvagopala.'

Her concluding dance was 'Radha Madhava Rati Charitamithi' a Telugu composition by Kshetrayya in Ragamalika — Taal Adi. Sneha Venkataramani enraptured the rasikas through her three renditions. The esoteric meaning hidden in the sahithya in the obeisance to Shiva was well brought out through her interpretation of the kundalini awakening and the Shiva's body encompassing the entire bramhanda. She made one feel that the Lord's dance was the pulse of the universe. It was amazing to watch the way she transited from Mughdha to Madhya to Pragalbha Nayika bhava, just by mere short bramari, to delineate the promises made by their common beloved Krishna.

In the third item, she transcended the sensual love of radha to sublime relation with Krishna, establishing her approach to dance composition was not merely for entertainment or a showcase of her technical mastery, but was to take her audience to spiritual experience, which she effectively did.

Satya Prakash Sahoo, Odissi dancer, disciple of Guru Sonali Mohapatra of Bhubaneswar, who was slotted for third segment of the festival, presented two from his repertoire. One was traditional Pallavi to which he added a stuti on Jagannath to make an auspicious beginning of his recital in raga Ananda Bhairavi and two a ode to Shiva through a composition titled Astashambhu. The first being in Raga Ananda Bhairavi-Eka tali and the other in raga Mallkosh and Tripata taal.

Satya Prakash Sahoo struck a excellent balance between the Laasya elements of Odissi dance and his tandava interpretation on the eight forms of Shiva. The bhangima in his pallavi with tribhangis and chowks wonderfully brought out the grammar of the form, while he emoted with such vibrancy while depicting the various leelas of Shiva through fleeting unfoldment of the stories. He proved that dance is not a prerogative of women, just like the great male masters did in his style of classical dance.

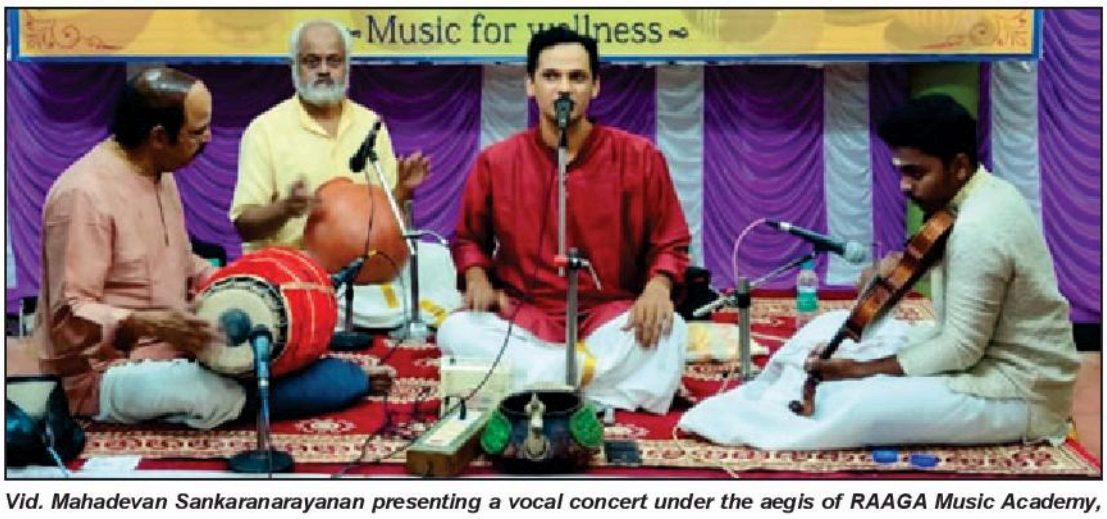
Harshini Purushotham, Bharatanatyam artiste, disciple of Vid. K. Sandesh Bhargav, commenced with a Melaprapti conjoined with 'Eka Shloki Ramayana' in Aadi tala and concluded with a Kanakadasa devarnama 'Baagilanu teredu' set to Khandachapu tala. Both dance numbers were in Ragamalike.

Harshini was at her sprightliest best. The fast paced entry in her opening item made the audience to straighten up to watch her further, with the same excitement that she entered the stage. The position of the limbs at any given point of the dance composition was just perfect in all its technicality. Her encapsulating the entire 'Ramayana' in the short verses was captivating.

Equally impressive was her rendition of the devarnama stirring pour souls in tune with Kanakadasa's desire to have a glimpse of Krishna. The sancharis of Gajendra moksha and Narasimha weaved into the narrative was performed with élan. While audience wondered if they have to leave the show without the excitement of tillana, it settled to leave with a bout of devotion to savour for a long night to come.

With an overdose of Dasara cultural events that just concluded, prekshakas yet turned up for the festival, despite the rains, to a full house, proving good organisation and good selection of artistes do entice again and again.

Vocal Concert at Raaga



Vid. Mahadevan Sankaranarayanan presenting a vocal concert under the aegis of RAAGA Music Academy, Mysuru, on Oct.19. He is accompanied by Vid. Thrissur K.M.S. Mani on mridanga, Vid. G.S. Ramanujam on ghata and Vid. Gokul Alankode on violin.

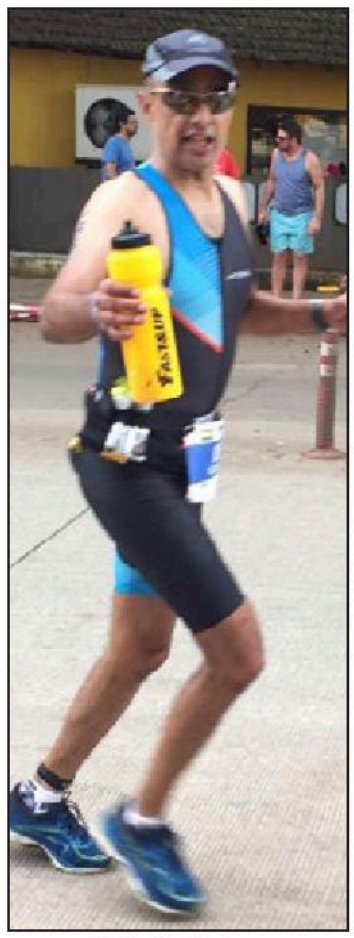
Mysureans complete Ironman Championship in Goa

One qualifies for World Championship 2020 to be held in New Zealand

Veera Manikanta

Abdul Hannan Khan

Dr. Sujeeth Shetty



B.N. Sudindra

Manju Ganesh

Mysuru, Oct. 22- Five Mysureans — Veera Manikanta, Abdul Hannan Khan, Dr. Sujeeth Shetty, B.N. Sudindra and Manju Ganesh — participated and successfully completed 'Ironman 70.3,' India's first triathlon race held in Goa on Oct.20.

An Ironman 70.3, also known as a Half Ironman, is one of a series of long-distance triathlon races organized by the World Triathlon Corporation (WTC). The '70.3' refers to the total distance in miles (113.0 km) covered in the race, consisting of a 1.2-mile (1.9 km) swim, a 56-mile (90 km) bike ride, and a 13.1-mile (21.1 km) run. Each distance of the swim, bike, and run segments is half the distance of that segment in an Ironman Triathlon.

The Ironman 70.3 series culminates each year with a World Championship competition for which competitors qualify during the 70.3 series in the 12 months prior to the Championship race. In addition to the World Championship race, Ironman 70.3 Championship competitions are also held for the European, Asia-Pacific, and Latin America regions.

The event where Mysureans participated took place at Miramar Beach in Panaji, Goa. Over 1,000 participants including 800 Indians took part in this race. Participants from 27 countries including Singapore, France, Germany, Australia, Qatar and Japan also marked their presence in the triathlon race.

As per the set norms, this Ironman 70.3 Race also comprised 1.9-km swim, 90-km bicycling and a 21.1-km run where the participants had to complete the feat in 8.5 hours.

Veera Manikanta, Proprietor of Ambaari Suites, completed the race in 6 hours and 16 minutes and stood 9th in his age category. Based on his time and overall position, Manikanta has qualified to represent India in the 2020 Ironman World Championship to be held on Nov.28 and 29, 2020 in Taupo, New Zealand. When students fed hungry Policemen on Dasara Duty

Mysuru, Oct.22 (BCT)- This Dasara, an unprecedented 10,000 Policemen were on security duty and most of them were drawn from outside Mysuru district who were unfamiliar about the presence of hotels and eateries to satiate their hunger.

Though the Police Department had provided food and accommodation to the Policemen at various Kalyana Mantaps, Police accommodation centres and other halls in city, there was a desperate need to provide them food and water while they were on day-long and night-long Dasara duty. This is the time when other sources of food are not available and also they could not leave their place of duty to have food.

Many Policemen were seen standing clueless on where to go to have food or a quick snack. Some of them were seen eating bananas and filling their hungry tummies. Realising this need, Rotary Mysore Midtown Academy School pitched in and supplied food for over 600 Policemen who were on duty at various places.

Food to the place of duty

The Interact Group of the Rotary Mysore Midtown Academy School took the initiative of supplying food to the place where the Policemen were on duty. The Group has been doing such work since the last three years and this year, food was supplied to over 600 duty-bound men and women and also Home Guards.

Ramya Urs, Head Mistress of Rotary Mysore Midtown Academy School, said that this year, 15 kgs of vegetable pulao, 5 kgs of curd rice and 20 litres of buttermilk were supplied. "Interactors took the initiative from purchasing of bulk vegetables from the market, cooking and distribution of items and over 20 to 25 students from Class 7, 8 and 10 took part under the leadership of seven to eight teachers," she said. Plastic bottles were avoided to be environmentally friendly.

Food supplied, waste collected

Venues like Aahara Mela, Maharaja's College Grounds, Palace, Kuppanna Park Flower Show and K.R. Circle were covered in the initiative. Food was brought to the places where the Policemen were standing in groups and was served to them. Not only this. A couple of students were also involved in collecting waste containers and glasses after the Policemen had food. This ensured that the place is not littered with discarded waste, Ramya added.

Rtn. A.N. Aiyanna, President-Elect, Rotary Mysore Midtown told Star of Mysore that the team coordinated with the Office of the City Police Commissioner to supply food. "The initiative was on the fifth day of Dasara and the Commissioner's office provided us directions on where to provide food and where there was more concentration of Policemen and Home Guards. Accordingly, our school bus was taken there and food was supplied. We even collected the waste cups and containers," he said.

Policemen thankful

On the response of Policemen, Aiyanna said that the Policemen were happy to see food arriving at their places. "Some of them were literally in tears seeing food as they were very hungry and had no place to go. They blessed the children and spent some time with them asking them about their studies and their schools," he added.

Next Dasara, Rotary Mysore Midtown plans to have the food distribution to be a three-day event covering more than 3,000 Policemen and women. "We will coordinate with other Rotary Clubs to join us in the initiative and do it in a mega scale," Aiyanna revealed.

Research is an approach to find solutions: Dr. Srikantaswamy

Mysuru, Oct.22- Research is a systematic approach which attempts to provide solutions to problems based on collection and analysis of data, said Dr. Srikantaswamy, Academic Consultant, NAAC, Bengaluru.

He was delivering a keynote address during the inauguration of a one-day State-level Workshop on 'New vistas in Social Science Research: Issues and Challenges' at Vidyavardhaka First Grade College, PG Centre, here recently.

During his speech, he briefed about the concept of reflection and critique in addition to explaining about Social Science research and its essential components and principles. He also enlightened the research scholars on how to overcome the challenges by finding solutions.

Earlier, the workshop was inaugurated by Dr. R. Shivappa, Registrar of University of Mysore.

Gundappa Gowda, Hon. President, Vidyavardhaka Sangha, who presided over the event, called upon the scholars to undertake research on problems faced in rural areas besides requesting them to conduct research on freedom fighters.

Dr. S. Mari Gowda, Principal, Vidyavardhaka First Grade College, Prof. S. Poornima, Prof. G. Prashanth Kumar and College Managing Committee Chairman T. Nagaraju were present.

The inaugural event was followed by two technical sessions. The first technical session titled 'Critical Review of Literature: A Comprehensive Outlook' was addressed by Dr. Khaiser Jahan Begum, Professor (retd.), Dept. of Library and Information Science, University of Mysore and the second titled 'Statistical Packages in Research' was addressed by Dr. G. Srilakshminarayana, Associate Professor - Quantitative Methods, SDM-IMD.

This was followed by a panel discussion on 'Issues and Challenges in Research.' Dr. C.K. Renukarya, Director, Pooja Bhagavat Memorial Mahajana PG Centre, Mysuru, moderated discussion which had Dr. M. Indira, Professor (retd.) Department of Studies in Economics, University of Mysore and Dr. Suresha, Professor, Department of Studies in Computer Science, University of Mysore, as panellists.

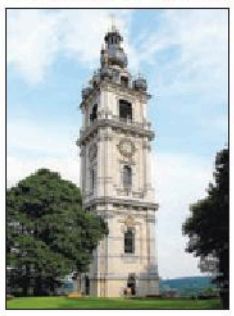
WORD OF THE DAY

Belfry

Pronunciation: BEL-free.



Meaning: A bell tower; one surmounting or attached to another structure; a room or framework for enclosing a bell; the seat of the intellect: head.
Origin: Surprisingly, belfry does not come from bell, and early belfries did not contain bells at all. Belfry comes from the Middle English berfrey, a term for a wooden tower used in medieval sieges. The structure could be rolled up to a fortification wall so that warriors hidden inside could storm the battlements. Over time, the term was applied to other types of shelters and towers, many of which had bells in them. This association of berfrey with bell towers, seems to have influenced the dissimilation of the first r in berfrey to an l, and people began representing this pronunciation in writing with variants such as bellfray, belfrey, and belfry (the last of which has become the standard spelling). On a metaphorical note, someone who has "bats in the belfry" is insane or eccentric. This phrase is responsible for the use of bats for "insane" (as in "Are you completely bats?") and the occasional use of belfry for "head" ("He's not quite right in the belfry").

THE ODD WORD

Bagnio

Bathing house.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

Back-seat driver

Meaning: Someone who criticises from the sidelines.

Origin: This comes from the annoying habit of some people giving unwanted advice to vehicle drivers. It emerged in the USA in early 20th century, as motoring was becoming widespread. The first reference I can find to someone being called a 'back-seat driver' is from the Daily Kennebec Journal (Augusta, USA), May 1914:
"When New York pitcher Vernon Gomez retires as a smokeballer he wants to become a smoke eater. Here he gets a tryout as a back-seat driver on a hook and ladder truck at St. Petersburg..."
Throughout the 20th century U.S. fire departments commonly used large articulated ladder trucks, known as tillers. These had both front and rear-wheel steering to enable the long vehicles to turn in city streets. The link between that form of back seat driving and the present meaning of the phrase isn't explicit, and there's no particular reason to attach any negative sentiment to it. It's possible that the phrase originated that way.

QUOTE BOX

You're the driver of your own life. Don't let anyone steal your seat.
